July 2008

A Message from Mona Bernstein, PAETC Director

I would very much like to invite you to participate in PAETC's 2008 Asilomar Faculty Development Conference, presented in collaboration with the Northwest AETC. The title for this year's conference is 50 Ways to Leave Your Lecture: Becoming the Best Trainer and Training Organization You Can Be. Based on your feedback from previous conferences, this year we are presenting a different format- one which focuses almost exclusively on improving the quality of our training programs by further developing your training skills. This focus will be evident throughout the conference, even in the plenary clinical updates, where we will demonstrate and discuss methods to increase interactivity. For example, we have built time in the agenda to reflect on what makes David Spach's annual HIV update so engaging. Throughout the conference we will demonstrate a variety of training methodologies that we hope will engage you and inspire you.

In keeping with this goal, a major feature of this year's conference will be the opportunity for each attendee to participate in a small work group. Time will be set aside for trainers to work on a talk, curriculum, or presentation, while program staff will work on a needs assessment, evaluation method, workplan or other quality improvement activity, both alone and in the small groups.

Lastly, please consider submitting a poster so we can further learn from each other and make the Asilomar experience even richer. The focus of Asilomar has always been to showcase the immense expertise that exists within our faculty and staff, and the poster session gives everyone that opportunity. If you have not registered yet, please do so by August 8th at <http://lorilee.com/dev/paetc/resources/asilomar/asilomar.html> (username is conference and password is paetc – only use lowercase letters).

We are very excited about this year's conference and hope you will be able to join us. See you in September.

Mona Bernstein
